

EVENTS MANAGER

At Real Kombucha, we are changing the way people drink. In a market where alcohol consumption is collapsing, and sugar is a genuine killer, there are few genuine alternatives to a sophisticated alcoholic beverage when out on the town, or relaxing at home. At Real Kombucha we believe we're able to offer another choice.

We are a very fast paced, young company, led by a great team of experienced individuals. The Founder is a seasoned consumer entrepreneur, with companies such as bookings.com, Tom Dixon and Clippings.com already under his belt. And he is supported by talented co-founders from Lucozade Ribena Suntory and Havas Media and a very strong group of investors.

But more than anything, the team is passionate about food and drink. After just 18 months, our products are already served in over 50 Michelin starred restaurants around the UK, and are being rolled out across many of the UK's top restaurant chains, pub groups, caterers and event spaces. We really believe we can change consumer consumption habits for good.

Job description

The position is based at our office near Wendover with frequent driving into London and around the local area. You will be expected to manage a small sampling team, work with Account Managers to help organise on-trade activations and sampling, help the Head of Events organise and run consumer and trade events plus logistics and ops. The work is hands-on but a lot of fun.

Responsibilities

- Sampling in-store and from the Booch Mobile, managing a small sampling support team
- Drive the Booch Mobile to and from London or elsewhere to conduct guerilla sampling, delivering and collecting mobile bars, helping set-up and breakdown on-trade activations
- Help the Head of Events organise and set-up in-house, consumer and trade events
- Support the wider team across all events including consumer, trade, partnerships and b2b activity
- Work at events, sampling and selling from our Real Kombucha bars
- Help out at the brewery with admin and e-commerce when needed

Who we're looking for:

- Friendly, confident and approachable
- Hands-on, highly organised with a can-do attitude
- Flexible, pro-active and happy to work weekends
- Based near Wendover within easy access to the brewery
- Believes in what we're trying to achieve and change the way people drink

Ideally we'd like to recruit someone on a full-time basis (though would consider part-time), initially on a three month contract with lots of weekend work. The candidate must hold a clean UK driving license and have the experience to drive a Land Rover. We're looking for a 'roll your sleeves up and get stuck in' character that will also champion the brand wherever they are.

We want people to grow with us long-term. The Events Manager role is a great entry-level opportunity within an ever-evolving, dynamic company offering development and career progression in the business.

Salary
£20-£25K
